NEWS AND COMMENT.

APPROACHING Christmas does not find HARRISON in festive mood.

THE late Chief Justice SMITH'S estate is estimated to be worth $150,000.

The Landmark says: "It is rumored that Judge Gilmer will resign January 1st." We are neither a prophet nor the son of a prophet, but we are hardly prepared to believe such a rumor.

KICKING against Harrison's administration in Indiana continues to-day. At Jeffersonville, a few days since, the Union League, a strong Republican Club, buried President HARRISON in effigy, and made a bonfire of their regalia.

HON. ROSWELL P. FLOWER, of New York, favors the election, by the people, of Postmasters, Collectors of Internal Revenue, Custom House officials and other Federal officers; the President only to retain the power of removing for cause.

TOM REED, of Maine, received the Speakership "plumb" at the Republican caucus in Washington last Saturday; McPherson, of the Philadelphia Ledger, was elected Clerk of the House. These selections show up badly for Sherman, as it is a Blaine triumph all 'round. But Sherman is to be dreaded in the next National Republican Convention.

"OUR sins are scorpion whips to scourge us," and the proverb holds good as well in politics as in morals. Foraker and his friends were "knifed," they claim, in the recent Ohio campaign, and the wounds are very sore—too sore to accept palaver as a salve, and too deep to admit of compromise. "When rogues fall out honest men get their dues." It bids fair to be war to the death between the Foraker and Sherman factions; their clans are on the war path, tomahawks sharpened and paint laid on an inch deep—and in the meantime the people of the State will rest in the enjoyof good Democratic government.

"THE divine right of kings" is one that those "born in the purple" are not prone to surrender without a struggle. "Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown," but the bauble is generally enterusted with diamonds for all that, and such splendors of the hollow world are apt to be clutched with tenacious grasp, in spite of all the pains and penalties attending them. Dom Pedro is the phœnix among monarchs—the rara avis of humankind—who didn't consider a crown and sceptre worth fighting over. Certainly history records no instance of imperial sway more easy and pleasant to the governed than that of the Brazilian ruler; but, if they wished to try another form of government, he was well content. He goes into very luxurious retirement, however, the new republic having provided for the dethroned monarch and family to the tune of about $600,000 a year.

HERE is a specimen of "life in the wild west:" Two road agents mounted the engine of a Missouri, Kansas & Texas express train, north-bound from St. Louis, while it was stopped for water on Prior Creek, Choctaw Nation, Indian Territory, Sunday night, and while one sat in the cab covering the engineer with a revolver, the other went back, uncoupled the express car from the balance of the train, entered the car, leveled his pistol on the messenger, and signaled his confederate to make the engineer pull out. The engineer pulled off with the express car, and the robber inside made the messenger open his safe, when he emptied its contents, between $45,000 and 50,000, into a a guano sack he had brought along. This done, the engineer was signaled to, stop and the two road agents jumped off and disappeared in the darkness. The engineer then ran back and got his train and went on his way.

"FIRE is a good servant but a bad master," and now and then great conflagrations in the very business centres of our most splendidly built and well-ordered cities force upon us the emphatic warning that, notwithstanding expensive and carefully drilled fire departments, we are always at the mercy of its ruthless and destructive mastery. The truth is that while the architecture of the present day is an improvement on that of the past in appearance, nothing makes so stout a fight against a raging fire as the old-time kiln-cured red brick. The recent $5,000,000 conflagration in the city of Boston had its beginning in a block of six-story granite buildings, which were licked up as rapidly as the sand on the shore would crumble away under the advancing wave. Then, too, the ornate Mansard roof is a veritable fire-nest—a complicated net-work of colored tiles, slating, etc., set about a skeleton of wooden beams and scantlings, which, once attacked by the flames, can hardly be reached by the most determined and well-directed efforts. The chief of the fire department of New York City is now calling the attention of the municipal authorities to the fact that the crowded down-town districts of that great metropolis are practically defenseless in the event of such a calamity as recently visited Boston and Lynn.

LATEST NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD.

The Republicans held a caucus last Saturday in the Capitol, and made nominations for officers of the House of Representatives; Mr. Reed, of Maine, was chosen on the second ballot as the candidate for Speaker, receiving 86 votes out of 165 cast; Mr. McPherson, of Pennsylvania was nominated for Clerk, who received 116 votes to 50 cast for Cannon of Pennsylvania. ——Much uneasiness is felt in New Orleans with reference to the condition of Hon. Jefferson Davis, who is sick in that city; his physician reports an improvement, but he is unable to receive nourishment, and hence the anxiety concerning him. ——Ex-Emperor Dom Pedro and his party have arrived at St. Vincent; all members of the party are well. ——The worst storm experienced for years is reported from Lake Huron; a number of vessels were driven ashore and wrecked, and many sailors suffered terribly from exposure. ——The Secretary of the Treasury has decided to reduce the number of national bank depositaries and the amount of public money therewith. ——It is estimated at the Treasury that there has been a decrease of $4,000,000 in the public debt since November 1st. ——A quantity of nitro-glycerine, which was being unloaded from a boat at Oil City, Penn., exploded and killed three boys; the boat was reduced to kindling wood. ——At Jeansville, Penn, a fireman was killed by a boiler explosion, and a building burned. —— A shortage of $45,000 has been found in the accounts of the late collector of the city of Richmond, Va. ——A conflict is imminent between the States of Maryland and Virginia growing out of the right of occupancy of oyster beds in the waters of Hog Island, in Chesapeake Bay. ——John B. Collins, for twelve years Superintendent of Collins' Mills, Dracutt, Mass., was drowned by being carried over a dam. ——Robert B. Trippe, an Atlanta lawyer, thirty-five years old, committed suicide in his office by shooting himself twice in the head. ——The prosperity of the cotton mills of Fall River, Mass, during the entire year is without parallel in the history of Fall River manufacturing. ——Universal suffrage has been established throughout the new republic of Brazil. ——The plaster and cordage firm of A. W. Morris & Brother, of Montreal, suspended with liabilities of $1,100,000. ——One thousand mother-of-pearl button-makers in Vienna, Austria, went on strike for shorter hours and higher wages. ——Diphtheria has been epidemic in Berlin, and many parts of the city were quarantined. ——The total number of immigrants arriving in Philadelphia during the last year was 27,745. —— New York's elevated roads carried 179,000,000 passengers during the past twelve months. ——No less than one hundred people died in the recent storm at Arizona and New Mexico. ——Governor Mellette, of South Dakota, estimates the total revenue of the State at $300,000. ——The Order of the Knights of Labor is just twenty years old. ——The lace trade of France gives employment to nearly 200,000 persons. ——Georgia mill hands have been urging the legislature to pass a bill making ten hours a day's work. —In four weeks the World's Fair Committee at New York raised the $5,000,000 Guarantee Fund. ——Failures during the last seven days were for the U. S. 210; for Canada 30; total 240; compared with 277 last week. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 201 in the United States and 31 in Canada. ——There was a big snow blockade on the Cincinnati, Wabash & Michigan road last Friday, between Benton Harbor and Elkhart on the Grank Trunk Railroad. Twenty-four trains were stuck in drifts between Battle Creek and Valparaiso. The snow is three feet and drifting badly. Business on the line is suspended. ——A terrific gale from the northeast raged at Port Huron, Mich., last Friday, accompanied by heavy snow squalls. It is the worst storm that has visited this section in a number of years. The steamers Argonaut and Arabia were obliged to run back for shelter. ——The snow at Buffalo, N. Y., last Friday, was a foot deep, and traffic was considerably interrupted. —— The Third Assistant Postmaster General, Hazen, has submitted his report for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1889, to the Postmaster General. It shows the total cost of the postal service for the year to be $63,751,851, or $7,603,856 in excess of the revenues. —— The following fourth-class postmasters have been appointed for North Carolina: Mrs. C. Fender, at Elk Creek; Olivia Lamb, at Lambville; Mrs. C. Crumple at Roaring River. —— Martin Farquhar Tupper, the poet, is dead. ——Fire destroyed $600,000 of property at Keyport, N. J. ——The receipts of cotton in the Lumberton market are about the same as last year. The fact would indicate a healthy state of things for that section, as a fine crop of corn has been harvested. ——A highwayman armed with shotgun and pistol last Thursday night compelled a Redding and Weaverville stage to throw off a treasure box of Wells & Fargo Company, and the mail pouches. There was little money in the express box, but the robber secured considerable registered mail. ——Goldsboro has sixteen passenger and mixed trains arriving and departing daily, and on alternate days eighteen. ——A number of prominent Methodists from different portions of the State, who spent last summer at Blowing Rock, have decided to build a handsome Methodist church at the delightful summer resort. ——Two men were killed by the premature explosion of a blast in a stone quarry near Calasaqua, Penn. ——By the fall of a belfry at Olahujfalu, Hungary, six persons were killed and many injured. —— The Turkish Government has granted an amnesty to the Cretan revolutionists. —— Canadian Treasury has been defrauded through extensive smuggling of whisky. ——it is stated that Queen Victoria has invited Dom Pedro, the deposed Emperor of Brazil, to visit her at Windsor. ——The National Palace at San Salvador has been completely destroyed by fire. Victoria's Crown

St. Louis Republic.]

Queen Victoria's crown, kept with other royal regalia under strong guard at the old tower, and worn only on state occasions, is one of the most costly insignias now in existence. To begin with, there are twenty diamonds around the circlet or headband, each worth $7,500, or $150,000 for the set. Besides these twenty there are two extra large center diamonds each valued at $10,000, making $20,000 more; fifty-four smaller diamonds, placed at the angles of the others, each valued at $500; four crosses, each worth $60,000, and composed of twenty-five diamonds; four large diamonds on top of crosses, each having a money value of $5,000; twelve diamonds in the fleur-de-lis, $50,000; eighteen smaller diamonds contained in the same, $10,000; pearls, diamonds and rubies upon arches and circlets not mentioned before, $50,000; also 141 small diamonds formed in roses and monograms, $25,000; twenty-six diamonds in upper cross, $15,500; two circles of pearls about the rim of headpiece, $15,000 each. The total money value of this relic in any jeweler's market in the world would be at least $500,000, metal and all included.

The Slate Pencil Industry.

New York Journal.]

One of the most peculiar branches of industry in this country is the manufacture of slate pencils. There is only one slate pencil factory in the United States. It is located at Castletown, Vt., and employs twenty-five hands, who turn out thirty thousand slate pencils every day. The method of manufacture is a good deal in advance of the primitive means employed some years back. Not long since the blocks of soft slate from which they are cut were sawed in lengths and distributed among the neighboring laborers' families to be whittled down in pencil shape. Those working at them could earn about fifty cents per thousand. By the present system the blocks, which are as wide as the pencil is long, are put into the mouth of a machine called the crocodile. This contains six rows of revolving curved knives. As the slab passes between these knives parallel grooves are cut in the slabs; then they are turned and cut through. The square pencils are then rounded and polished by holding them against the emery belt. One man can cut out and finish about eight thousand pencils per day.

Americans and Mustard.

Chicago Journal.

"Have you ever noticed," inquired an observant young man with whom I was lunching the other day, "how few Americans eat mustard?"

I confessed a lack of study in that direction, and he continued:

"In England mustard is the great national condiment. An Englishman will never eat beef, bacon, ham or steak without it, and many of them season mutton with it. An English tramp to whom you gave an unseasoned beef sandwich would stop and ask you for mustard before he commenced to devour it. With Americans it is different. They never take mustard with beef, and rarely with anything else, unless it is very fat ham. Americans deluge their meat with hot Indian and other sauces, but they let mustard alone. My proof, say you? My proof is right here. Examine every mustard cruet in this restaurant, and you will find that its contents might have been mixed ten years ago, for they look as old as Methuselah and smell twice as musty. I don't believe that there's a restaurant in this city that uses a pound of mustard a week."

Separate Cars for the Races.

Raleigh News and Observer.]

We rejoice to see this stand taken by Governor Richardson in his message to the South Carolina legislature, on the subject of separate cars for the races. The two races are here to stay. We propose to do what we can to elevate the negroes and to make them a self-respecting people. And we also propose to maintain the distinction between the races. It is only right that cars should be provided for the darkeys, comfortable in all respects. For those of them who are willing to pay first-class fare first-class accommodations should be furnished; and to those willing to travel at second-class rates inferior accommodations may be provided.

It is not necessary that an entire car should be provided where the number paying first-class rate is small. In England the apartments hold only six persons.

Let our people take the matter in hand; a strong public sentiment will accomplish the desirable reform.

A Notable Colored Woman Dies.

Milledgeville (Ga.) Record.]

Aunt Judy Hudson died Sunday, October 6, aged 79 years. Who that ever broke bread in the dining-room of the "old Hudson hotel" does not remember Aunt Judy? Governors, United States Senators, Congressmen, legislators and other distinguished men have been kindly waited on by this faithful servant, so long at the head of the principal hotel in this city. Old men now alive will feel sad when they hear of Aunt Judy's death. She worked well, filled her mission faithfully, and has gone up higher to enjoy the reward of good deeds done in the body.

A Dream of Fair Women.

Tennyson in his exquisite poem, dreams of a long procession of lovely women of ages past. This is all very well, but the laureate would have done the world a greater service if he had only told the women of the present how they could improve their health and enhance their charms. This he might easily have done by recommending the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Health is the best friend of beauty, and the innumerable ills to which women are peculiarly subject, its worst enemies. Long experience has proven that the health of womankind and the "Favorite Prescription" walk hand in hand, and are inseparable. It is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

It is said that the city of Paris, when full, can accommodate nearly four millions of people.

THE HUMAN FAMILY.

The Number of People in the World Since Adam.

St. Louis Republic.]

Did you ever make a calculation of the number of people that have inhabited this globe since the beginning of time? No doubt you will say that calculations involve loss of time and are, after all, barren of results; but, as we are engaged in giving curious readings and odd calculations, let us take a few minutes' time and approximate, with a certain degree of accuracy, at least, the number of souls that have been ushered into and out of this sinful world since the time when it was not good for Adam to be alone. At the present time it is believed that there are 1,400,000,000 human beings on our globe; but let us suppose there has been but an average of 900,000,000 living at one time since the creation. To give room for any possible doubt as to the average length of life, we will put it down at fifty years. (It may have been longer than that during Bible times; it has been much shorter, however, since.) With the average length of life, reckoned as above, we have had two generations of 900,000,000 each every century for the past 6,000 years. Taking this for granted, we have had about 55,627,843,257,075,266 inhabitants on this globe since the beginning of time.

Admitting that there is a great deal of guess-work about this speculation, and that it has been hastily and perhaps inaccurately done, it will be perceived, nevertheless, that our earth is a vast cemetery. On each rood of it 1,283 human beings have found a burial-place. A rood being scarcely sufficient for ten graves, each grave must contain the remains of 129 persons. The whole surface of the globe, if all people bury within the earth as we do, has been dug over 120 times to get room for burial-places.

Dyeing Hair.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat.]

Hair-dyeing is not entirely a feminine fad or vice, whichever you like to call it. It is exceptional for men to take the trouble and suffer the annoyance and even pain which continual bleaching and dyeing entail. But some men are guilty of the weakness, and they are not all actors or men who live by their wits and personal appearance. Ladies generally prefer gold, but men who are dissatisfied with the natural color of their hair almost invariably go in for black. To keep up the deception, two if not three applications a week are necessary, and one customer of mine had me visit him every alternate day for over three years. Dyeing the hair kills it in time, and makes it brittle and thin during the process, while the number of scalp diseases sacrificed at the shrine of vanity is legion. Several barbers now decline all dyeing business, and I am one of the number. But in years gone by I did my share, and admit having made a quantity of money at it. The acids used are so strong that they positively make the fingers sore, and as the scalp is much more sensitive than the fingers, the tortures endured by those who subject their heads to constant irritation in this manner can be more easily imagined than described.

A Great American.

Boston Herald.]

That this thinking people of this country were fully appreciative of the genius of Mr. Edison long before he visited Europe, need not be reiterated or dwelt upon here, but to judge by the Paris correspondent it would appear it was a recent discovery, and, more than that, their own. There is no doubt but to-day Mr. Edison is America's greatest gun—no greater, however, than in all these years of seclusion when he kept curiosity and an idle public at arm's length, and pursued the inventive spark, as genius ever must, alone. Now that he has emerged from his shell, and rests for a moment on laurels nobly won, too much honor cannot be done him by his countrymen. Do not, nevertheless, permit it to be said in his case that a prophet is not without honor save in his own country. It did not need the indorsement of Europe for Americans to recognize the leading inventor of the age, and to be proud of his success.

How Far You Can Hear.

London Life.]

Some experiments in judging distance by sound were carried out on Saturday last by one of the London brigades of the Metropolitan Volunteers. This branch of military tactics is quite a new departure in volunteering, and one which, if it is to be made of service, will require more than an ordinary amount of practice. It was first explained to the men that sound travels at the rate of 1,120 yards in three seconds, and on this basis they were to estimate the distance at which some rifles were being discharged in the darkness. The answers at first were very wide of the mark, some of the men being as much as 150 yards out in their calculations. With a little practice, however, a great improvement was shown, many of the men guessing the distance exactly. I am told, however, that the experiments are not as satisfactory as was hoped, and it is thought that some time must elapse before judging distance by sound can be relied upon with any certainty.

Comparative Cost of Water Power and Steam Power.

A thorough examination into the relative cost of water power and steam power has been made by C. H. Manning, in a paper read before the last session of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. After making elaborate calculations as to the practical additions and abatements required in putting both to use, the author sums up the cost in each case, and says: "In the water power plant we paid $14 for the cost of the water, simply, per horse power per annum; adding to this $8.62 for attendance and supplies, we have a total cost for water power of $22.62 per horse per annum. Taking for steam a low pressure plant of 1,100-horse power, with compound engines run on one and three-quarter pounds of coal per horse power, with coal at $4.50 per ton, the total cost for steam is given at $21.16 per horse power per annum, "On a 1,000-horse power plant," says Mr. Manning, "the difference in the cost saves an engineer's wages."

A NEW DEPARTURE NECESSARY.

The conviction must by this time be forced upon the minds of thoughtful farmers that entire dependence upon cotton is at all times hazardous, and, in the event of a short crop, or even an unusually large crop under certain conditions, is fraught with serious embarrassment to them, if not ruin.

We are confronted by certain plain, undeniable facts, and they lead to irresistible conclusions; we are beset by grave evils, induced by causes not hid but lying on the surface:—but we are far from being ready with a remedy or capable of offering counsel for consideration and guidance.

In truth, the farmers of the South have been the best and most liberally advised people in the world—and that is about the only thing in the way of help which they have enjoyed since the day when, staggering to their feet amid the ruins of a great political upheaval and fierce revolution, they were confronted by the problem of working out their destiny anew from the fragments of shattered fortunes and blighted industries. Standing at bay, as it were, with signs of the wreck of years of patient toil all about them, the popular orator and the popular press besieged them with, "why don't you do this?" or "why don't you stop doing that?" Is it not natural that they should exclaim, in some bitterness of heart: "our battle now is for a shelter over the heads of wife and children, and bread for the hungry mouths of helpless dependents; don't talk to us about 'methods' with this terrible crisis of bare self-preservation confronting us!"

To narrow the field of the discussion of this question somewhat, the agricultural class of the Cape Fear and Pee Dee sections of North Carolina were, above all others, in a deplorable condition at the close of the civil war. To state the fact concisely, their territory was the "stamping-ground" of Sherman's devastating hordes, with an organized contingent of reckless, voracious, murderous "bummers," "more terrible than an army with banners"—and they effectually stamped the very life out of it. Here, too, converged and were consolidated the scattered forces of the sore-beset Confederacy, under that matchless soldier, JOSEPH E. JOHNSTON—patriotic but hungry, without a quarter-master's train or a hundred pounds of commissary stores. When the fusilade of the skirmish line grew fainter in the distance—tracked by blood through dense woods and gloomy morass—and the roar of the last gun was ushering in the closing act of the tragic drama, no "lowing herd wound slowly o'er the lea," or "cock's shrill clarion or the echoing horn" awoke the farmer to his daily toil. The budding life of spring was upon all the earth, but the soil was unturned by the plow, no sign of labor was in the field, the stable, the cattle-yard and the pig-sty were empty.

Years of economy, self-denial and incessant work have been required to rehabilitate this impoverished section, re-stock these desolated farms, and rebuild the homesteads laid in ruins. Small opportunity has there been for intensive farming; a "money crop" was imperatively demanded, whereby taxes might be paid, a mule or a horse purchased, a cow or a hog put into the vacant pen.

In our judgment the question yet to be satisfactorily solved is whether or not cotton constitutes the "money crop" without which no general system of land cultivation can prove remunerative. It is the great commercial staple of the world—this admits of no doubt; but the profit seems invariably to lie dormant until long after the raw material has been gleaned from the plantation, has passed through the neighboring gin, has left the warehouse of the local factor, and has been safely landed in the hands of the Northern or English speculator.

With the improved machinery now stocking the mills of the country, the advanced methods of transforming the raw material into the varied fabrics of the trade, and their consequent low price on the shelves of the merchant, there is little ground for hoping for future very satisfactory prices for cotton, while labor, so far from manifesting any improvement, is becoming every year more unmanageable.

In this portion of the South and the State there is a glimmer of light for the farmer athwart a rather cloudy horizon in the rapid development of manufacturing interests and the remarkable increase in railroad extension, building new and increasing the trade and population of old towns and cities. Better facilities are thus offered to land owners for equipping themselves with improved implements of husbandry and good stock, while they enjoy multiplied advantages in good markets for their products.

The completion of the great line of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway from Wilmington, one of the most important ports on the South Atlantic coast, to Cincinnati (if we mistake not, a contract has already been made with the Norfolk & Western R. R., looking to the speedy accomplishment of that great western extension); the progress south of the Atlantic Coast Line R. R., and the building of the Albemarle & Aberdeen R. R., will all tend to utilize for the needs of the world's markets an area of country unsurpassed in advantages: with an unlimited supply of good water, blessed with a climate admitting of open air labor all the year round, a soil withstanding well both the extremes of drought and moisture, while adapted to the cereals, the truck of the market-garden, all varieties of the grape, the small fruits and the products of the orchard proper.

Henceforth, it seems to us, agricultural prosperity in this section is to be eliminated by the system of making an acre produce the most possible of all the crops for which it is suited.

The Most Creditable and Important Success ever Achieved in North Carolina Journalism.

From the News and Observer.]

We have received a copy of the illustrated centennial edition of the FAYETTEVILLE OBSERVER published by Mr. Z. W. Whitehead. It is in all probablity without exception the most creditable and important success that has ever been achieved in North Carolina journalism. The appearance in it of nearly one hundred and twenty-five illustrations, including the marshals and other prominent characters in the centennial, and also various scenes of the occasion, shows a degree of enterprise which would do high honor to any costly metropolitan sheet.

ACCORDING to the Landmark's Washington correspondent, there is "weeping, and wailing, and gnashing of teeth" in department at Washington, by Secretaries NOBLE and TRACY, and many think the result will be the retirement of one or the other of them from the cabinet, perhaps both. To the student of politics a contest of two such men cannot fail to be very interesting, representing as they do the extremes of the Republican party. Mr. Noble was selected personally by President HARRISON for his present position, and has always belonged to the conservative or silk stocking wing of the Republican party, while Mr. Tracy came into the cabinet as the personal representative of the craftiest politician in the country—ex-Senator T. C. PLATT, of New York—and belongs to the working wing of the Republican party. President Harrison's personal inclinations are all undoubtedly with Mr. Noble, but owing to his susceptibility to the influence of the powerful members of his party it is doubtful which Secretary he will in the end sustain. The trouble between the two gentlemen comes from the Pension Office, which continues to be a veritable thorn in the side of the administration.

How Others Saw Us.

Joe Caldwell in Statesville Landmark.]

It was a great occasion and Fayetteville did herself much honor. It was stated that 18,000 persons had come in by train for Thursday's exercises and that 30,000 in all were present. I do not accept either of these statements, though I am no hand to estimate a crowd. Certainly this crowd was nothing like as large as that at the centennial celebration at Charlotte in 1875, which was placed by competent ones at 25,000. But there were too many people there for comfort, and when there is a prospect of such another gathering in the State I will send a hand. This particular section was not largely represented. Col. W. H. Williams, of Newton, J. G. Hall, Esq., of Hickory, W. W. Barber, Esq., of Wilkesboro, and Mr. N. Glenn Williams, of Yadkin, were there, but not many others from this "beat." Quite a number of the prominent men of the State lent their presence to the occasion, among these Congressmen McClammy and Rowland, Judges Shipp and Boykin, and ex-Lieut. Gov. Stedman.

One of the interesting events of the occasion was the presentation, Thursday morning, to Chief Marshal Carr, by his staff, of two plaques and a bronze figure—testimonials of their esteem. This ceremony took place at the Hotel LaFayette. The presentation speech was made by Hon. Louis C. Latham, and Mr. Carr responded in a speech of rare grace and good taste. It was, indeed, a model of its kind. This gentleman discharged his duties as chief marshal becomingly and well; the Fayetteville people made no mistake in this selection.

Among those who drove a lively business at the centennial were the barkeepers and the pick-pockets. Both classes lifted a good deal of cash; and yet it is astonishing how few drunk men were seen—just one here and there. The night I left four special trains pulled out from the station within a half hour, carrying away probably 3,000 people. In company with Col. W. H. Williams I stood and saw them leave, packed, we leaving on the last one, and yet there was no sign of a drunk man in all the crowd—not a loud oath nor a drunken shout.

There are a great many funny things to be seen and heard and much enjoyment to be had in such a gathering as that at Fayetteville last week, but once in a lifetime is enough—that is, for yours truly.

The Growth of the Baptist Church in North Carolina.

The Baptist Church, as a denomination, has made great strides in North Carolina during the past year, as the reports at the State Convention in Henderson last week show. The report of the Board of Missions and Sunday Schools is the fifty-ninth annual one, and shows that whereas ten years ago only twenty-four associations co-operated with the convention, now all co-operate with it. The amount set apart for foreign missions has quadrupled. Since the last convention thirteen foreign missionaries have been sent out, and there are now thirty-two, of whom fifteen are in China, fifteen in Africa and two in Mexico. There were, ten years ago, only eighteen missionaries engaged in work inside the State; now there are ninety-six, and State Missions got only $1,427, whereas now they recieve $12,500, Fifteen colporteurs are now at work, where ten years ago not one was engaged. The report goes on to say that then there was no orphanage; now there is a home for orphan children liberally sustained; then church buildings were erected at the rate perhaps of ten per year; now at the rate of more than one hunderd per year; then new members were not more than 5,000 per year; now more than 15,000; then Wake-Forest College was struggling for existence; now, with the strongest faculty, the greatest number of students, the largest endowment, and the brightest prospects of any institution of learning in the State, the Baptists look upon it as a proof of the consecrated wisdom of the fathers and one of the principal factors in their denominational prosperity in all the years to come; then total receipts for all objects, reported through the treasurer of the Convention, were $8,046.09; now, including orphanage, more than $45,000.

Two hundred and forty-two churches are supplied in mission-fields and 178 outstations, with 360 Sunday-schools, with 20,145 members. No less than sixty-four new Sunday-schools were organized during the year. There is great need for churches in thirteen of the eastern counties, eight in the middle section, and five in the west.

The convention is urged to undertake to secure $15,000 for State Missions during the coming year. The report shows that $100,000 has been expended on new churches during the year. The average cost of the Baptist churches is $1.000.

Delegates to the General Conference.

Greensboro Daily Workman.]

The following is a list of the delegates elected to the General Conference, which meets in St. Louis, May 1890:

Clerical—J. R. Brooks, D. D., who leads the delegation by thirty-nine votes—a compliment without precedent; J. A. Cuninggim, one of the wisest members of the last delegation; F. L. Reid, the polished editor of the Conference organ, the Raleigh Advocate, and the youngest member of the delegation; W. S. Black, D.D., a popular and able member of the General Conference for nearly twenty years; V. A. Sharpe who goes for the first time, earnest, consecrated, safe; H. T. Hudson, D. D., who has already been sketched in these columns; J. E. Mann, D. D., one of the most influential members of the last General Conference; and F. D. Swindell, who has had an enviable career, having risen in an incredibly short time to the highest positions of honor and influence.

Alternates not yet elected.

Lay—Donald W. Bain, the popular State Treasurer, a victim of the reporter's charcoal in a former issue; J. S. Carr, the well known philanthropist; Dr. B. F. Dixon, said to be the most eloquent North Carolinian, brilliant, scholarly and polished; J. A. Odell and W. R. Odell, two well known in Greensboro for more than mere memtion; C. W. Tillett, D. B. Nicholson and J. W. Mauney, among the ablest young lawyers of the State.

Alternates—Judge Walter Clark, J. C. Davis and R. R. Crawford.

The Clinton Fair—Gov. Lee.

Wilmington Star.]

Senator Kerr, of Sampson county, who was in the city yesterday, received during the afternoon the following telegram from Richmond, Va:

To Senator E. W. Kerr, Wilmington, N. C.:

Will be ready to leave here Wednesday evening. Four or perhaps five, but not more, of my staff will accompany me.

FITZHUGH LEE.

Mr. Kerr will leave here this morning for Richmond, Va., in the special car of Mr. W. H. Walters, General Manager of the Atlantic Coast Line, which has kindly been placed at his disposal for the occasion, and will bring the Governor and party to Clinton. They will arrive there Wednesday night, and leave on the return Thursday evening.

There will undoubtedly be a large attendance at the Fair from this city. The fare for the round trip is only $1.90, including admission to the Fair grounds.

The Light Infantry will attend, but there is some hesitancy on the part of members who have not been notified by their employers that they will have liberty to go which makes it a matter of uncertainty as to the number that can be mustered for the occasion.

The Printer Did It.

San Francisco Argonaut.]

A well known Australian writer—a very bad penman—in mentioning the name of a certain lady in an article, said she was "renowned for her graciousness and charity." For "charity" the compositor read "chastity." The author, on seeing a proof, recognized at once that there was an error; but, unable to remember the word he had used in place of "chastity," marked the proof with what is called a "query"—?—to refer the printer to his MS. When the article appeared, the writer—who had intended to pay a pretty compliment to the lady—was surprised to read that she was "renowned for her graciousness and chastity (?)." Verdict for plaintiff £2,500 sterling, with costs.

News From Below.

Wilmington Review.]

It is probable that the C. F. & Y. V. R. R. will be open to traffic in a few days, perhaps by the first of next week. This is mere surmise on our part, and is based upon the fact that the road is now completed nearly to Parkersburg, in Bladen county, about 35 miles from Fayetteville. It will reach Parkersburg this week, and as this is a good objective point we think it will be made the first terminus and that trains will be put on next week. It is expected now that the road will get into Fayetteville by the middle of January or the first of February.

JUDGE SHEPHERD'S OPINION.

WASHINGTON, N. C., June 13, 1886.

Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy has been used by a member of my family, and the result has been very beneficial. I believe it to be a good medicine. JAS. E. SHEPHERD.

Mrs. Brown, the case alluded to in Judge Shepherd's testimonial, says:

WASHINGTON, N. C., July 20, 1886.

It is with pleasure I add my grateful testimony to the hosts of witnesses who have attested the virtues of Mrs. Joe Person's great Remedy. After years of debility and suffering, it has proven to me the best of tonics and blood purifiers. An obstinate, irritable ulcer on my ankle, from which I suffered agony for years, seems to have healed entirely and healthfully under its purifying effects, and my general health has greatly improved.

MRS. S. T. BROWN.

DR. J. H. McADEN'S OPINION.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Aug. 15, 1889.

I consider Mrs Joe Person's Remedy the finest blood purifier that is on the market today. J. H. McADEN.

DR. THOS. HILL'S OPINION.

GOLDSBORO, N. C., Oct. 23, 1889.

Mrs. Joe Person, Madam:

About April, 1887, I treated Sam Privett, a lad about 15 years of age, for scrofula, affecting the glands of the neck. In spite of all treatment they grew from bad to worse, finally suppurating and becoming running sores. In the latter part of that year you were in Goldsboro, saw the boy and proposed to treat him. I had done all that I could for him, and considered his chances for life very small and told you so, and that if you would benefit him with your Remedy, I would give you a certificate of that fact. That you have done your part the boy is now a living witness, and I shall not hesitate to furnish your Remedy in any similar case I may be called on to treat.

THOS. HILL, M. D.

REV. C. J. GIBSON, D. D.,

Minister of the Episcopal Church, Petersburg, Va., says: I have used Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy in my own family, and it gives me pleasure to say it has proved a valuable Tonic and Purifier of the Blood, and, if thoroughly tested, I think will remove many cutaneous disorders.

Our Toilet Cream.

It is without doubt an excellent preparation for purposes intended. It softens the skin when hot and dry, either from exposure to the sun or wind, and as a soothing application for roughness of the face, chapped hands and lips is not excelled by any toilet preparation on the market. When applied to the skin it produces a feeling of coolness, and is entirely free from the stickiness of glycerine or greasiness of cold cream. It dries at once on chapped hands, thereby allowing the use of gloves immediately after using it, it being absorbed by the skin, which it renders soft and pliable.

For gentlemen to use after shaving it is delightful, being superior to bay rum, toilet water and the alcoholic preparations usually employed for this purpose. It does not irritate or produce smarting. Try it! Twenty-five cents a bottle, at.

He (Reflectively)—Well, I first tried St. Jacob's Oil, but have now got on a porous plaster, and am getting on all right.

One Word, Please.

The year 1889 is rapidly nearing the end; and, having indulged many of our subscribers for their subscription, we have mailed this week a statement of the indebtedness of each delinquent subscriber throughout the County, State and United States, and now ask in return a prompt response to the call. It is not our custom to keep a standing notice in the paper all the year round, harassing our readers for what they owe, but simply to render a statement once a year. Let's see who will be first.

Fire.

Last Friday, at about the dinner hour, the alarm of fire filled the streets in a moment with a hurrying crowd, which, after a moment of uncertainty and running to and fro, streamed down Donaldson street toward Gaster's Livery Stables. The old Peter P. Johnson residence on Mumford street was found to be on fire. Water was scarce and a brisk wind blowing, but the fire department was promptly on the ground, and, after as good work as we ever saw, the progress of the flames was arrested, with some damage to the building. The property is owned by T. S. Lutterloh, Esq., and was insured.

Very Generally Observed.

The Centennial Celebration was in all respects such a huge affair—so severely taxing all our resources and all our capacity—that Fayetteville felt like drawing a good long breath when it was all over with. Thanksgiving came in most opportunely to stop by the way and take a seat on the fence, and we have rarely seen a more general suspension of business in this city. Very nearly all the stores were closed, the morning church services were largely attended, and in the afternoon fast horses were in demand for an hour's ride, while the music of the distant horn told that Reynard was not giving thanks by any means.

We Wish He Had Been.

The Bennettsville Pee Dee Alliance has the following to say of the Centennial Celebration:

Senator Ransom's speech is said to have been very good. Zeb Vance and Governor Fowle were present, and both made speeches. Some of our Marlboro boys declare to this day that ex-President Davis was there, and that they heard him speak. The newspapers state that the Confederate chieftain was in New Orleans quite sick. How shall we get these two statements together?

We only wish that the "Marlboro boys" had been right and the newspapers wrong, but Jefferson Davis was lying prostrate under serious illness in the city of New Orleans at the very hour in which Hon. Wharton J. Green was reading his matchless letter from the grand stand—and alas! there are to-day grounds for serious forebodings as to his condition.

Our Grateful Acknowledgments.

Our esteemed neighbor, the Farmer and Scottish Chief, has this to say of the OBSERVER'S effort of last week:

The Centennial issue of the Fayetteville OBSERVER is before us, filled with interesting matter relating to the great event in North Carolina history. The paper is of the finest quality, the engravings are equal to those of the Northern illustrated papers. In addition to its present interest, it will increase in value as the years roll by, as a souvenir of the Centennial, containing, as it does, good likenesses of the leading citizens, Ministers and all the Marshals who appeared on that great occasion. Our neighbors are certainly enterprising, and deserve a rich reward for the trouble and expense incident to such a work. We wish the OBSERVER most abundant success. The Centennial issue should be in the hands of every citizen in our section. It is certainly highly creditable in all its details.

A Level-headed Editor.

The Fayetteville Observer, Wilmington Messenger and Raleigh Chronicle are the three best papers published in North Carolina.—Pee Dee Alliance.

Thanks, neighbor. To brothers Bernard, Christian, Caldwell and others of that ilk we have only to say: "Shake not thy gory locks at us—thou canst not say, we did it!"

Jurors.

The following good men and true were drawn at the last meeting of the board of commissioners, to serve as jurors at the Superior Court of Cumberland County.

R. H. Nunalle, A. A. McCormick, Quinbo Sewell, A. J. Henderson, M. Monroe, D. H. Ray, E. J. Lilly, Jr., F. D. Epps, W. B. Warren, D. K. McDuffie, E. G. Hall, J. T. Matthews, Hector McNeill, Jr., J. E. Tillman, W. L. Halley, B. D. Black, Geo. A. Burns, R. S. Horn, A. McBaie, John B. Hair, H. R. Tolar, R. M. Nimocks, Larkin Melvin, Joseph Bullard, M. L. Patterson, Geo. Robinson, J. E. Pearce, A. J. Averitt, James Driver, V. B. Hair, J. S. McNeill, D. F. Sinclar, J. C. Vaughn, W. Taylor, R. Fisher, D. W. Anderson.

A Handsome Letter from Gov. Fowle.

His Excellency the Governor, speaking in behalf of the Chief Magistracy and the people of his State generally, writes the following to his Honor Mayor Neill W. Ray:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
Raleigh, Nov. 25th, 1889.

Hon. Neill W. Ray, Mayor of Fayetteville, Fayetteville, N. C.:

SIR:—I avail myself, with special pleasure, of the first opportunity of writing you, to express for myself and the people of North Carolina my and their appreciation of the warm reception given me by the good people of Fayetteville and the constant courtesies shown me during my entire stay—and also to further express the full appreciation of those North Carolinians who attended the Centennial for the untiring efforts of your entire community to make the Centennial worthy of the patriotic event which it comemmorated. With sentiments of highest regard, I have the honor to be

Your Obedient Servant,
DANIEL G. FOWLE,
Governor.

The absence of Capt. Ray from the city is our excuse for not publishing the above letter earlier.

Religious Notes

Rev. T. P. Barclay, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of this city, left here this morning for Greensboro, where he will assist Rev. E. W. Smith, pastor of the Westminster Chapel, in a series or religious meetings now going on in that church.

We regret to know that Rev. Joseph Wheeler, pastor of the Hay Street Methodist Church, has been confined to his house for several days with serious sickness, having been unable to fill his pulpit last Sunday.

The services at the Episcopal Church on Hybart Hill, two or three miles from town, of which Rev. Dr. J. C. Huske is rector, are very interesting and impressive, and well attended every Sunday. The congregations are generally made up not exclusively of Episcopalians, numbers being present from other denominations.

Divine services were held in the Catholic Church last Sunday by Rev. Father Charles, of Greensboro.

Dr. J. Henry Smith, of Greensboro, will fill Rev. T. P. Barclay's pulpit in the Presbyterian Church here next Sunday. He is one of the strongest pulpit orators in the South, and a rare intellectual feast is in store for us.

Union services were held in the Baptist Church last Thursday, Rev. T. P. Barclay, of the Presbyterian Church, occupying the pulpit, and delivering an earnest and eloquent discourse. A generous plate contribution was made by the congregation to the cause of the Orphans.

Beautiful and impressive services edified and entertained a large congregation at St. John's Church on the morning of thanksgiving day, the collection resulting in a very substantial help for the Orphanage at Charlotte.

An Entertainment to Delight Us All.

Successive entertainments during the past few years—calling for the exercise of Thespian talent, culture in the art of music and literary acquirements of high order of merit—have developed a reserve force within ourselves, which, on occasion, we can utilize before the public in the promotion of the many benevolent objects which appeal to our charitable efforts.

Among both sexes we have finished vocal and instrumental musicians, and hence the entrancing strains of the United States Marine Band saluted not only delighted but appreciative and intelligent ears. The splendid sacred music enjoyed by large congregations at the Presbyterian and Episcopal Churches last Sunday, for which we are indebted to Miss Waddell, of Smithfield, and Miss Clator, of Liberty, Va., has induced Mr. H. R. Novitzky, Musical Director, and others to embrace the golden opportunity afforded by their too brief visit to treat the people of Fayetteville to a concert in Williams Hall this evening such as it is given to a community rarely to enjoy.

A very complete and attractive programme has been prepared, to the rendition of which the best amateur talent of the city will be devoted, Mrs. R. W. Bidgood, Miss Waddell, Miss Clator and Miss Barker will perform solos, selections in elocution will be given, and his fine orchestra music has been courteously tendered by Professor Antonio Belezza.

The proceeds of the entertainment will be for the benefit of the Centennial Fund—a laudable object strong in its appeal to every citizen of Fayetteville. Tickets are for sale at 35 cents at Pemberton's Book-Store—reserved seats, 50 cents; children and gallery, 25 cents.

Mr. W. A. Moore, of Surry county, one of the directors of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway, was registered at the Hotel LaFayette last Tuesday.

Additional Fair Notes.

Pursuant to our intimation in the last issue, we complete here our report of the fair by the compilation and publication of the remaining notes made of meritorious exhibits:

VINEYARD AND ORCHARD PRODUCTS.

Mrs. W. Doug. Smith had on exhibition muscadine wine three years old, pronounced remarkably fine; Tokay Vineyard exhibited cases of grape brandy, sweet and dry scuppernong, Delaware, claret and sweet Meisch wines; Mrs. S. McDougald, Miss Emma Thames, Jno. P. McLean, A. B. Hinshaw, E. S. Saunders and R. E. Harris, fine samples of apple vinegar; G. W. Lawrence, beautiful grape vinegar, and scuppernong, blackberry and Concord wines; J. M. Pearce, cherry cider, unfermented cider and wine, and old scuppernong wine; R. E. Harris, corn whiskey and peach brandy; Miss Emma Thames, scuppernong, flowers, Thomas, Diana, Concord and blackberry wines; Miss Morgie Worth, blackberry wine; J. S. Breece, cider vinegar; J. W. Perry, peach and apple brandy. J. S. Breece had on exhibition pears, apples, the splendid Japanese persimmon, etc., in profusion.

MANUFACTURERS' DEPARTMENT.

Kelly Bros. laid the Society and the people under obligations by a fine display of plows and castings, together with cooking stoves—all of their own manufacture at their shops at Jonesboro. These exhibits are an evidence of industrial development very gratifying. They are important steps in bringing about the independence of our people in the different branches of manufacturing, a lack of which has hitherto been one formidable obstacle to Southern prosperity. The past has been paying tribute to enterprising and thrifty Northern and Western communities for the commonest implements of all our trades and avocations—even the ax-helves for the woodman and the plow-handles for the tiller of the soil—although, at our very doors, was an inexhaustible supply of timber for these very purposes. An infusion of new energy and force is slowly but surely blotting out this reproach to our people, and the establishment of mills, foundries, etc., keeping pace with railway extension, is utilizing the skill of the artisan and the wealth of raw material of our forests and mines. Messrs. Kelly are types of men to whom towns and cities owe their advancement and good fortune. Extraordinary inventive skill and ingenuity were evinced in the collection shown by Mr. Heptinstall, of Halifax:—a game trap, carbell, rein-holder, stock-lock ditch escape, fan with simultaneous quadruple motion, &c., &c.; Col. S. C. McColl exhibited very ingenious and valuable guano distributor; plows and cotton sweeps were placed on exhibition by Hampton Manf'g Co.

CARRIAGES, BUGGIES, &C.

The cheap Northern and Western work in vehicles has done more than aught else of late years to advertise the excellence of the work of our own makers—by contrast. There is no misrepresentation of the quality and value of these wares; they are put up cheaply and are sold at low prices, and are, altogether, neat and comfortable conveyances. But they are, of course, far inferior to a carriage or buggy turned out from one of our well-known and long-established factories.

Messrs. A. A. McKethan & Son exhibited a beautiful open buggy—the material throughout of the very best, the work of the highest class, and the style beautiful and elegant.

Messrs. W. P. Breeden & Co. offered an attractive display of the very best class of work: two buggies, sulky and road cart.

It is almost superfluous to make eulogistic mention of the work of Messrs. Tyson & Jones, of Carthage. This carriage manufactory is located in a section rendering accessible to them all the best woods for their business, while they have in their employ some of the most skilled mechanics in the trade, and they invariably turn out work exceptional in quality, style and finish.

The Emerson Manufacturing Company made a very creditable exhibition of hand some work.

Commissioners' Court.

The board of county commissioners met at the court house on Monday, 3rd inst., all the members present

After the reading of the minutes the official bonds of the Clerk of the Superior Court, Chas. G. Cain, the Register of Deeds, H. L. Hall, and R. J. Baker were submitted, accepted and placed on record.

On motion, it was ordered that Jno. B. Troy, Treasurer of the County, be empowered to purchase county bridge bonds now outstanding to the amount of $6,000.

Mr. Thos. H. Sutton was reelected attorney for the county.

All officers of the county who have so far failed to renew their bonds were allowed until January 1st, 1890, to comply with the requirements of the law.

Dr. J. A. Hodges was reelected Superintendent of the County Board of Health.

The resignation of A. J. Bullard, Surveyor of the County, was tendered and accepted, to take effect on the first of next month.

The report of the committee appointed for a final settlement with the sureties of Neill McQueen and W. A. McArthur was rectified to correspond with the record of the 7th ult.

The insolvent account of the November term of the Superior Court of Cumberland County was received, and, on motion, was ordered to be paid.

The present incumbent, A. Leslie, was reelected Keeper of the Poor House.

A joint meeting of the magistrates and commissioners was called, to take place at the court house on the 1st Monday in February next.

After the passage of snadry bills the board adjourned.

Mr. W. S. Jessup, of Greensboro, is making Fayetteville a visit

The Visiting Police.

We publish with pleasure the res gestæ of a meeting held here during the closing hours of the Centennial Celebration. Certainly to none are thanks more deservedly awarded than to Capt. J. D. McNeill and Capt. A. B. Williams; and commendations of the good order of our community, coming from the custodians of the peace, are worth recording and preserving:

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., Nov. 23, '89.

At a meeting of visiting police force on duty at Centennial Celebration of adoption of the Constitution at Fayetteville, N. C., held this day, it was unanimously

Resolved, That we desire to express our thanks to Superintendent of Police James D. McNeill, to the city authorities of Fayetteville, to Chairman A. B. Williams and Centennial Committee and to the good people generally of that grand and historic old city. We cannot find words that will convey to them our high appreciation of the treatment they gave us, and it seemed as if every person considered himself a committee of one to load us down with favors. Although the largest gathering of citizens ever held in North Carolina was present, everything passed off quietly, and no disturbance occurred to mar the enjoyment of the occasion. We never met a more law-abiding people.

To the people of Fayetteville we say, our hearts swell with emotion and pride whenever we think of you, and in parting with you our earnest prayer is that you may continue to prosper and enjoy for all time the high reputation you have for hospitality. We will meet you again, for we know that the latch-string hangs outside each door.

J. W. Bradford, J. R. Hurst, N. G. Price, J. W. Swaringen, R. Capps, H. J. Mintz, H. W. Howell, A. W. Wiggs, Robert Green, C. H. Lewellen, J. W. Beasley, G. A. Strickland, E. W. Rigles, D. P. Hunter, L. A. Blackwelder, J. E. Albright, I. G. Dickson, J. W. Marcom.

Conference.

The following are the appointments for Fayetteville District:

Rev. J. T. Gibbs, Presiding Elder.
Rev. C. W. Byrd, Hay Street, Fayetteville.
Rev. Mr. Sells, Campbellton Mission.
Rev. H. M. Jackson, Cumberland Circuit.
Rev. P. Greening, Cokesbury Circuit.

Personal Pencilings.

Col. T. W. Devane, of Dunn, made a pleasant call at the OBSERVER office last Saturday.

Mrs. A. Overbaugh returned from Greensboro to-day, where she has been attending Conference.

Mr. H. B. Downing, one of the progressive and wide-awake merchants of Cedar Creek, paid his respects to the OBSERVER yesterday.

Mr. Jno. K. Strange, a well-known and popular dry-goods man, long with Mr. F. W. Thornton, has taken a position in the house of Jno. M. Roddick & Co.

It gave us pleasure to meet last Sunday Mr. W. D. Pender, son of the late General Dorsey Pender, one of the most gallant and meritorious of the officers of high rank in the Confederate service, whose death from wounds received in battle lost to his country services which would have made his life and the history of his State illustrious.

DIED.

MCLAURIN—In this city, on the 3rd inst., MISS CAROLINE MCLAURIN, a member of the Presbyterian Church, and a devoted servant of God in all the walks and relations of life. The funeral services took place at 4:00 o'clock yesterday afternoon, from the Presbyterian Church.

BUIE—At his residence in Cumberland County, 71st Township, on the 19th of September, 1889, after a lingering illness, Mr. ARCHIBALD BUIE, in the 72nd year of his age.

THE DYING CAROLINIAN.

Lay up nearer, brother, nearer,
For my limbs are growing colder,
And thy presence seemeth dearer
When thine arms around me fold.

I am dying, brother, dying;
Soon you'll miss me in your berth,
And my form will soon be lying
'Neath the cold earth's silent turf.

Listen, brother, closely listen,
I have something I would say,
Ere the veil my vision darken
And I go from hence away.

I am going, sweetly going,
For my faith in God is strong,
I am willing, brother, knowing
That He doeth all things well.

Tell my father when you see him,
That in death I prayed for him,
Prayed that I might one day meet him,
In a world that's free from sin.

Tell my mother, God assist her,
Now that she is growing old,
That her child would glad have kissed her
When his lips grew pale and cold.

Listen, brother, catch each whisper,
'Tis my wife I'll speak of now;
Tell, O tell her how I missed her
When the fever burnt my brow.

Tell her she must kiss the children.
Like the kiss I last impressed;
Hold them as when last I held them,
Folded closely to her breast.

Oh, my children, Heaven bless them,
They were all my life to me;
Would I could once more caress them,
Before I'm laid beneath the clay.

It was for them I joined the army;
What my hopes were I needn't tell,
But I have gained an opniant poison,
Yet He doeth all things well.

Tell my sister I remember
Every kind and parting word,
And my heart has been kept tender
With the thoughts her memory stirred.

Tell them I never reached the haven
Where I sought that precious dust,
But I've gained a port called Heaven,
Where the gold will never rust.

Urge them to secure an entrance,
For they'll find their brother there,
Faith in Jesus and repentance
Will secure for each a share.

I must go, my Saviour's calling,
'Tis His voice I know so well;
When I'm gone, oh, don't be weeping:
Brother, here's my last farewell.

How Agriculturists May Regain their Prosperity.

Jno. F. Foard in Piedmont Farmer.]

Sell more and buy less are the first steps to the great boon. Diversified crops and stock-raising are the next. Why should planters raise all cotton and no wool when the former has worn out the land of the country, and the latter can be produced for less money, pound per pound, than the former? Besides, the production of cotton is on the increase and that of wool on the decrease in the United States, and the demand for woolen goods must constantly increase at a very rapid rate. A plantation that has been run down by raising the hoed crops may be sown down in rye at different seasons of the year, and produce pasture for sheep and goats the year round without the need of any other food, and they will always be ready for the butcher, which will pay well for cost of raising, while their skins and wool will be entirely extra profit. A sixteen-year-old boy and a shepherd dog can attend and protect a thousand sheep easier and more cheaply than a man and horse can make two bales of cotton and their support.

Wool and the skins of both sheep and goats will ever bring remunerative prices, and those animals do not injure land by tramping, but by their deposits absolutely enrich it every year—so much so that after a few years' pasturing and the turning of green crops an old dilapidated farm may be so enriched as to produce all other crops without any other fertilizer. Both sheep and goats will double their number and value each year on green food only, and very cheap shelters for extremely bad weather, if allowed sufficient range at all other times. And with our present railroad facilities fat lambs at six months old will always command from $2.50 to $4.00 each for Northern markets.

Horses, mules, cattle and hogs may be gradually added to a sheep farm to very great profit and with no extra capital, while truck-farming, poultry-raising, grape and fruit culture, vegetables and bees may remunerate handsomely all persons who own small farms and will give these articles proper attention.

Food and raiment must increase with the growth of the population or great suffering must necessarily follow, especially among the poorer classes in towns and cities. Besides all this, our present mode of living, railway systems, and the rapid increase of population of our towns and cities, with the modern system of "pooling," cause a constant flow of money to large sea-ports, all of which produce a constant money famine in the rural districts. To live above want the tillers of the soil must of necessity change their system of laboring, and become independent to a greater extent of other callings.

Carbonate of Lime for Cancer.

Therapeutic Gazette.]

Nearly twenty years ago Dr. Peter Hood published a communication on the value of carbonate of lime in the form of calcined oyster shells as a means of arresting the growth of cancerous tumors. In the Lancet for May 7, 1887, he publishes a second communication on the same subject, in whiche states that although his opportunities for employing it in suitable cases have not been large, the results which he has attained through its use have been extremely satisfactory. He refers to several cases in which a persevering use of the calcined shell powder arrested the growth and pain in tumors undoubtedly of a cancerous character. Dr. Hood urges the persistent and fair trial of this remedy in cases of cancer where the nature of the affection is early recognized. It can do no possible harm, it need not interfere with other remedies for the relief of pain, its action can be referred to an intelligible and probable hypothesis, and it has been of utility in a sufficient number of cases for warranting us in reposing some confidence in its use.

An advantage of the treatment is that it may be readily prepared at home by baking oyster shells in an oven, and then scraping off the calcined white lining of the concave shell. The substance thus obtained is to be reduced to a powder, and as much as will lie on a silver quarter taken once or twice a day in a little warm water or tea.

Leave hope behind,
All ye who enter here!

So ran the dire warning which Dante read on the portals of the inferno. So runs the cruel verdict of your friends if you are overtaken by the first symptoms of that terrible disease, consumption.—"Leave hope behind! Your days are numbered!!" And the struggle against death is given up in despair. But while there is life, there is hope! Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has cured hundreds of cases worse than yours; and it will cure you, if taken in time. But delay is dangerous. No power can restore a wasted lung; the "Golden Medical Discovery," however, can and will arrest the disease.

The World Moves!

Get Up and Ride!!

When the Big Guns in the Dry Goods trade, who are supposed to buy their goods on long time, insist on selling everything to everybody for strict cash, we think it is time for us heathen, who have to pay cash and cash only for our goods before we can ever see them, to follow in their illustrious footsteps.

It is a well-known fact that all dealers in Grain are compelled by the commercial law of the times to pay for their supplies before they can get them, however much such dealers may be worth, or however they may be.

We have decided therefore to adopt the same rule in selling that we have to abide by in buying. In our case, this should always have been the rule. The unbusiness-like methods of others being our only excuse for wrong-doing, we trust that all of our patrons will "catch on" to the "new departure," and show their appreciation of our endeavors in the past to please them, by continuing to give us their patronage.

Recollect that we sell you

Meal and Feed

AT THE

ACTUAL COST

of the unground material.

We also hold that to endeavor to do a

Hand to Hand Cash Transaction with every purchase is not only impracticable but also unbusiness-like, and we wish it distinctly understood that accounts with parties of a known place of business, that are always promptly paid on presentation without any foolishness, is in our opinion cash.
